

brazilianpoliticalsciencereview

Volume 2 Number 1 Jan - Jun 2008

Contributors

Pedro Robson Pereira Neiva

Pedro Robson Pereira Neiva holds a Ph.D. from IUPERJ and a post-doctorate in quantitative methodology from the University of Texas. He is currently conducting a further post-doctorate at Brazilian Centre for Analysis and Planning (CEBRAP). His most recent publication is “Os determinantes da existência e dos poderes das câmaras altas: federalismo ou presidencialismo?” (Revista Dados 49 (2), 2006). His areas of interest include the Legislative, federalism, comparative politics and quantitative methods.

Email: prneiva@gmail.com